Spy Swaps Unwise,
CIA Ex-Chief Says

Los Angeles, Oct. 17—(AP)—Allen W. Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, has expressed concern over swapping of accused spies between the United States and the Soviet Union.

He told the American Gas Association convention yesterday that he feels the Reds get the better of such trading because "it is easier for the Soviet Union to plant spies in a free society than it is for the free world to put them in a policea society."

Dulles said Russia could arrest innocent American travelers, as he said it had in the past, and keep them as a "backlog," to retrieve its own professional spies.
